THE NET

THE NET is a new innovative concept: A series cycle consisting of standalone, character-driven series, forming one epic global universe. Set in the world of international football, the most beautiful game in the world. And the corruption surrounding it.

THE NET represents a new model of international drama series. Consisting of three individual series, and more to come, each can be watched standalone, follow their own local stories, genres, and target groups – but they can also be discovered as a whole experience, catering to many audiences at the same time. Each series explores unique aspects of the multi-million dollars business that is international football: from the grounds to the playing field, the boardroom to hotel room, from intimate stories of personal grief and obsessive love to desperate battles for power, control, revenge, and success. Yet they all connect to a single narrative universe and to an unparalleled global passion for the game. Each journey of each protagonist intersects in unexpected ways, with some characters reappearing in other series, revealing hidden motives and new perspectives. It is a thrilling, glamorous, exhilarating, dangerous world where winning isn't about goals or trophies, it's about survival.

Series Cycle

Directed by Andreas Prochaska, Daniel Prochaska, Rick Ostermann, Volfango De Biasi, Lorenzo Sportiello

Produced by Das Netz GmbH - a joint venture between Red Bull Media House and Beta Film – and local producers. The global series is based on the idea of Matthias Hartmann and Plinio Bachmann

PROMETHEUS

Notorious doping hunter Georg is offered to run a new high-performance clinic in the Alps. But soon, he uncovers secrets that make him doubt the intentions of the clinic and not only point towards the future, but also into his own past.

Georg Trotter is a doctor and former doping agent who gave up his career after a tragic car accident badly injuring his wife Diana and killing his beloved son. Known as notorious doping hunter and "bloodhound", Georg is offered to run a new, hypermodern, high-performance clinic in the Alps. There, the staff is supposed to get injured football players back into shape in record time with high-tech training methods, and help young talent to become the best footballers in the world. They promote clean sports without illegal tricks; a job that seems to have been made for Georg. But soon, he has doubts: Is it really about the well-being of the players and that of the sport? The closer Georg looks behind the fancy facade, the more secrets he uncovers, which not only point towards the future, but also into his own past.

PROMISED LAND

After losing her fiancé in a car accident, idealistic lawyer Lea discovers the dark truth behind it, leading her to the highest levels of the corrupt global football business.

Lea is a lawyer in Berlin with a strong sense of justice and an instinct for people. But her world is turned upside down when her fiancé David dies right in front of her eyes. It seems he was on the run from someone unknown. What's more, another death seems to be connected: The best friend of right-wing hooligan Marcel was killed the very same day. Lea and Marcel form an unlikely team to get to the bottom of it all. As David worked as a successful player scout, their investigation soon leads to the highest ranks of the glamorous world of international football. One thing is for sure: David had to pay for something he knew.

When a family-run Florentine football club has to be saved, the owners are forced to sell half of it to Chinese investors. But this desperate move invites the ire of a powerful enemy and throws the family into turmoil.

Florence, Italy. Vincenzo's family can look back on a long history of their football club, and while they still dream of success, its future now seems all but dire. Vincenzo holds on to hopes of proving a worthy son to his father, leading his club to glory – but it is a rocky road ahead. He's not the only one with dreams: beautiful Mariam, a sports reporter who's mostly noticed for her looks, not least by Vincenzo, dreams of a career as a renowned journalist. The club's old-school football coach dreams of getting the team back on track – with outdated methods. Then, there is Maurizio Corridoni, the scheming pope of Italian football and member of the WFA, who dreams of bringing football back to what it used to be: Italian clubs with Italian owners and Italian players. But when Vincenzo is forced to sell 50% of the club to Chinese investors, he is unaware that he is inviting the ire of a powerful enemy... Will all these dreams just serve as a set-up for disappointment?

PROMISES

The new event series set in 1920's Berlin, moving through the decades thereafter. Based on the history of the legendary "Jonass" department store, that is now the "Soho House Berlin". From the producers of BAYLON BERLIN. Shot at the same location as THE GRAND BUDAPEST HOTEL.

Berlin in the 1920's. A dazzling place, but times are not only golden. They are marked by poverty and crime. Vicky arrives in the city, led by promises of a better life, she's looking for a job. But as soon as she gets there, her hopes and dreams are met with a cold awakening. With no place to stay and nothing to her name, she hires on to work as a saleswoman at a newly-established, glamorous department store. But the founders are also fighting for survival, just like Vicky. Times are tough. And it's about to get tougher: Vicky falls in love with the seemingly penniless pianist Harry. What she doesn't know yet, he is none other than the son of her boss, the department store owner Arthur. The class divide between them turns into a seemingly unsurmountable obstacle, as his father has different plans for Harry. And so begins a love story that will always be impossible. But against all odds – or precisely because of them – it will outlast decades...

Inspired by true events and the life of the leader of the 'Los Miami' gang. A deep dive into the single-handed shake-up of Madrid's 1990s.

Spain, the 1990s. Flanked by his hotheaded brother Sebas and his more cautious chum Rober, José-Antonio rises up the ranks to drug lord. Knowing when to stay in the grey and when to strike hard sets José apart from his rivals, while helping him cheat death more than a handful of times. Expanding his reign to party paradise Ibiza, José and his gang – now baptized 'Los Miami' for their ruby-red baseball jackets – uproot the island's underworld power structure. Deep down, though, José is a man rooted to the soil, never forgetting where he came from. Taking care of his closest family – his mother, wife, and his inner circle, male or female – may be his biggest strength. But it may also turn out to be his softest spot. A motorcycle may have claimed one of his legs, but maybe, insisting to drop his little daughter off at school that fateful day is just a bit too much of a target for his foes...

AUDREY'S BACK

A very different kind of YA: An authentic, insightful and unique dramedy about finding yourself after being in a coma for half your life. Starring the co-author of the series, Florence Longpré.

Sixteen years after she was found lifeless on a road, a miracle happens: Audrey wakes up from her coma! All of a sudden a thirty-something, she now needs to re-learn how to speak, count, walk, everything that once was “normal”. But she has a lot of help: from her now divorced and overwhelmed parents André and Mireille, her jealous brother Clément, her caring stepfather Marcel, and her feisty half-sister Sarah... it's a long road to recovery, and needless to say, their middle-class life is turned upside down! And while old conflicts emerge, Audrey's magical outlook on the world might just reconcile everyone. Audrey even reconnects with Cynthia – as teens, they were inseparable. Memories of the first kiss, first love, and the first break-up come flooding in... but also of the night just before the accident, putting their friendship to the ultimate test. One thing is for sure: Finding yourself after being asleep for 16 years is no easy feat – but Audrey can do it!

A medical drama from Creator/Executive Producer Lone Scherfig, acclaimed director of the Oscar®-nominated AN EDUCATION, with a stellar cast including Sofie Gråbøl (THE KILLING, THE UNDOING, FORTITUDE).

Birth is one of our few unifying experiences and its arena the maternity ward, where, during a busy workday, the staff experience conflicts and heartfelt joys, while striving to be at their best. On the surface, they are full of goodwill, close-knit, often witty colleagues who understand one another better than their families. Sometimes they bow to the pressure of work and huge psychological demands. Like Head of Department Ella, who is surrounded by new life each day, while secretly wishing for her own children; but she has a hard time forming close relationships. Or pediatrician Jerry, whose marriage is falling apart, a fact his religious community is not supposed to know. They and those passing through are from all walks of life, representing all facets of society. Yet they all share this place, a venue of suspense, shame, guilt, and insecurity, but also a world of triumphs, humor, trust, love, and unfathomable bliss.

The Shift

SILENT ROAD

An emotional, suspenseful crime drama told from multiple perspectives: from the kidnapped children, their families, the culprits, and the investigation. A modern twist on the “Pied Piper of Hamelin”.

When the school bus filled with nine elementary students disappears, the seemingly peaceful community, one of Athens’ most affluent neighborhoods, is in shock. Under the eyes of the entire country, the experienced detective Nasos is in charge of the investigation. But the kidnapers only talk to one person, demanding ransom: Thalia, a young journalist and the black sheep of one of the most powerful families of the community, immediately becomes a person of interest. And while Thalia struggles with her strained relationship with her family, as she is the aunt of two of the missing children, her powerful father Spyros tries to take control of the situation. As the days go by, it becomes clear that the kidnapers aim at something bigger than just ransom. Gradually, the case turns into a ticking bomb ready to explode as tensions rise among the kidnapers. And while Nasos tries to piece together a difficult puzzle of suspects, a web of secrets and lies begins to unravel...

Pietro, head of the Ristuccia family, has built one of the most famous restaurants in Rome. But when he dies, the hole left in his place makes room for conflict: His widow Alba and the three children, Carlo, Sara, and Paolo are not the only heirs. Almost half of the restaurant was left to Pietro's sister Maria, to be managed by her son Riccardo, the black sheep of the family. He has made powerful enemies, amounting crippling debt with the mafia due to a gambling addiction. But Riccardo is not the only one with his own agenda: Carlo needs a majority stake so he can expand the business in Sardinia. Sara wants independence from her authoritarian brother. Paolo only wants his own money problems to disappear. The façade of a happy family cracks and in midst of the chaos, a terrible secret is about to rise to the surface. It will change all their lives forever. This family is heading towards a bloody disaster...

(UN)CORRUPTED

From the producers of the original EUPHORIA and the writer of YOUR HONOR.

Ignore your instincts, no heart, no feelings – only evidence! That’s the credo the ambitious young female prosecutor Marcel Ben-David has been taught. But it’s not hers! The intrepid contribution to the sensational conviction of a powerful crime boss earns her a promotion to the DA’s office in Tel Aviv. From day one however, she finds herself in a shark tank where her hardened colleagues and opponents consider her easy prey. But Marcel remains faithful, throwing herself with every fiber into a huge embezzlement case. Little does she know that her drive and determination open a Pandora’s box from which all the depravity of the political and legal system crawls out. Then, after recovering from traumatic events in the wake of a massive conspiracy, Marcel returns to the office. At first glance, she seems to be her incorruptible self. But a new, even more scandalous case, challenges her the hard way – to fight the spirits that she cited, and the battle between law and justice...

In a newly-united Germany, an Eastern and a Western police officer have to work together to solve a murder – and soon learn that criminals from West and East were the first to join forces.

Berlin 1991. Homicide Inspector Karo Schubert has won herself a position as chief detective in reunified Germany. In the murder case of a high-ranking employee of the Ministry of Disarmament, she encounters the newly appointed Western Superintendent Peter Simon. He leads the ZERV special unit, a task force that investigates crimes committed by the old regime. Both claim the case for their department. Now, they have to work together: For Peter and his team won't succeed if their Eastern colleagues don't cooperate. Soon, Peter and Karo realize that right and wrong remain right and wrong, no matter from which side one looks at it. They find themselves embroiled in a battle against old networks. When Karo stumbles across the files of her missing father in the course of her investigation, she finds a new piece of the puzzle of both her family history and the case.

Not just a second season: One of the most successful and highest-budgeted Movistar+ original series ever tests the limits of the action-suspense genre.

The stakes are raised in chief inspector Carla Torres' and her unit's fight against terrorism: After a year of stakeouts and behind-the-scenes investigations, they catch and arrest one of the most-wanted Jihadist leaders. A victory that comes at a great cost: The firstborn son of Syrian-Spanish businessman Omar Al Hassan is killed in the process. Double-playing the Saudi and Spanish secret services, the grief-ridden Al Hassan begins his vendetta by luring none other than Sergio into an ambush and almost killing Carla when his henchmen ram a truck into the storefront window of a restaurant. When Al Hassan has Marcos' home machine-gunned to lure Carla out of hiding, the whole unit know that they are now little more than moving targets for Al Hassan. Things reach boiling point when the unit finds out there is a mole among them and Carla can no longer protect her daughter Lua...

GOMORRAH: YA drama series set in Naples.

Naples. Still an organized crime stronghold. For the inmates at the Juvenile Detention Center, time and space are interrupted. Taken away from their families and friends, they now have the opportunity to understand who they have been, who they are, who they want to be. Such is the case for Kubra, a girl of Nigerian origin guilty of matricide. Or Sasà, a young boy arrested for rape, a crime he is convinced he did not commit. Each of them is confronted with their roots and has to make a choice: Will they follow their family's example or make their own way? For it is outside these walls that we find the real culprits of the crimes committed by the kids: When a minor makes a mistake, there are always guilty adults.

Helsinki Syndrome

Based on the famous novel by Maurice Leblanc (LUPIN), starring Virginie Ledoyen (THE BEACH, 8 FEMMES), Charles Berling (MARIE CURIE, CAPITAINE MARLEAU) and Stanley Weber (BORGIA, PAULA).

Christine lives a quiet life with her husband Raphael. Until the day, she receives a mysterious video on her cell phone: It shows images of her giving birth on Sarek, the island in Brittany where she grew up. Christine is horrified to discover that her child, who was supposedly stillborn, must have actually been murdered. Now, she haunted by agonizing questions: Who killed her son, and why? Against Raphael's advice, she decides to return to the island she left 15 years earlier. As Christine searches for the truth about her son, a series of deaths stirs up terror among the people of Sarek. It seems that her return has awakened the prophecy of the Thirty Coffins... Then, the unthinkable occurs, casting doubt on everything she thought she knew: Her son is alive! As everyone she turns to, who might have answers, turns up dead, the islanders start turning against Christine and she has to fear for her child's life – and her own – once more.

HELSINKI SYNDROME

A new Nordic thriller series from the makers of BORDERTOWN. Inspired by true and current events, the thrilling contemporary story about the modern Robin Hood of the North in the aftermath of a worldwide crisis. Starring Peter Franzén (VIKINGS).

When Elias was young, it seemed he had the potential to become whoever and whatever he wanted to be. But fate had something different in store for him. A brilliant mind, loving husband and caring father of two boys, one day, he holds four journalists hostage. But how did it come to this? Elias demands that they expose the crimes committed by bank officials and a Supreme Court judge: They have destroyed his reputation, stolen everything his family owned, and caused his father's suicide. When hundreds of similar stories of other families in despair start to unravel, Elias' claims are proven true. He gains active support from the public and even from his hostages. But what nobody is aware of yet, is that the purpose of the smokescreen of media attention that shakes the nation is to enable the greatest robbery of all time: Elias is going to steal 2.2 billion Euros from the State Treasury and give them to people who have suffered because of the government's failure.

He was the first German to win Wimbledon and the youngest male player ever to do so – Boris Becker, the tennis legend. But on his way to the top, there were many obstacles, not least his own ambitions...

Germany, 1984. Hotheaded teenager Boris Becker has but one goal: to play tennis in the big leagues, and to be the best at it. But his temper leads everyone to doubt his ambitions. Until he is scouted by coach Günther Bosch, who sees the diamond in the rough for what he is: a star in waiting! He becomes his mentor and hires a new manager, Ion Tiriac. With their help, Boris finally plays the legendary courts of Wimbledon – and he's a winner! Out of the German province – into the glitzy world of Monte Carlo: Flying so high, so fast, will Boris burn his wings? His ego starts threatening his friendship with Günther. Because Boris is still young, and fame is hard to handle. He might just stumble his way to the top...but at what cost?

CHAMPION

LOVE YOUR ENEMIES

Based on true events and interviews with contemporary witnesses. The gripping drama of what happened to those in power after the Wall that divided a nation came down.

January 1990. Germany is about to be reunified. The dying GDR regime turns onto its own leader: former Head of State Erich Honecker faces charges of treason. Practically homeless, no one who used to bask in the Honeckers' gloomy glow is willing to help. Not so protestant pastor Uwe Holmer and his family. Uwe suffered for years under the GDR regime, but he is willing to take them in. The Honeckers and the Holmers now share one space filled with emotions, aversions, possibly changing alliances, and diametrically different moral and political views. But the atheist socialist and the pastor meet on common ground: their shared humanity. But can change flourish when ideologies clash?

JOURNEY of my HEART

Wildlife biologist Abby travels to Alaska to find a secret eagle colony. With help from a mysterious wilderness guide, she finds more than she thought she would: the love of her life.

Promising biologist Abby jumps at the chance to find a hidden eagle colony in Alaska. Eagles do something she is unwilling to do. They mate for life! The only one, who has ever seen them, is Alice, who helps Abby on one condition: she may not reveal the location. Alice's grandson, reserved "mountain man" Eric, is her guide. As the two make their way through the breathtaking wilderness, majestic woods and over awe-inspiring mountains, Abby senses there's more to Eric. And her research might be more than just a job: her dreams of eagles are interpreted by the local Natives as a vision quest! Could it be that Eric is "the one"? Things fall apart when Abby's boss reveals the secret location. Will she regain Eric's trust?

DAD GOT GROUNDED

Paul is a great pilot. But now, he has exactly one week to prove to his wife, two ex-wives, and three kids, that he's also a great dad.

Paul is living the dream. He's a pilot who gets to fly across the globe, and at home, his beautiful younger wife Susan waits for him. The only catch: he promised to retire early and take care of their 4-year-old son Franz. But when he breaks his word, Susan leaves him... alone with Franz. On top of that, the kids from his two previous marriages appear on his doorstep: lovesick, morbidly shy 22-year-old Jonas, and Tabea, a teenager in trouble. His kids make him face the dire truth: he's a bad dad. Now, Paul has one week to show he's capable of being a father, or Susan won't come back. When Paul reluctantly shows his kids how much he loves them, they finally bond! But is that enough to win Susan back?

A more-than-funny liberation story for women who have been afraid to ask for what they want – at home, at work, and in the bedroom.

When her friends arrange for a stripper to visit her home as a birthday surprise, 50-year-old Gina asks him to do what no one else will do for her – to clean her house. While watching him clean, a part of Gina awakens... and an idea takes hold. Gina decides to convert a team of well-built movers into house cleaners. Finally, she is the boss she never thought she could be. But as her business booms, her clientele demands something more – sex, or, better yet, pleasure. As they navigate the unique joys and struggles of such a business, a journey begins for Gina and her team, including her foodie manager Steve. Ultimately, Gina learns to look out for her own happiness and pleasure, and to follow her own appetite for life.
