ESTONIA

Based on true events, the sinking of the MS Estonia. Not only showing the scale of this unsolved disaster, the series also finally sheds a light on what really happened by telling the story from different perspectives.

Just after midnight on September 28, 1994, the MS Estonia is caught in a catastrophic storm off the coast of Finland. Despite a dramatic rescue operation under the most difficult conditions, the ship sinks within 30 minutes, sweeping 852 souls to their deaths. As the tragedy unfolds, pressing questions surface: How could this happen? Was it human or technical failure? Who can, indeed, must, be held accountable? The JAIC investigation committee, including acclaimed marine engineer, yet novice inquirer, Henri Peltonen, is determined to unveil the cause of the disaster. As conflicting interests and suspicions of a cover-up emerge, the grief of the survivors and the bereaved is at risk to be forgotten. Eventually, Henri, as the only remaining member of the commission, continues to fight tirelessly for satisfactory explanations. Still, with years of investigations and no one to blame, do we really have to live with the fact that, as one mourner puts it, "the truth lies beneath the waves"?

Multiple Emmy® award winner Frank Doelger presents CONCORDIA – a thought-provoking and increasingly pertinent social-technological thriller, ambivalently exploring surveillance, privacy, and data security.

Concordia is the municipality of the future: a town built on surveillance and data collection – not for nefarious self-serving purposes but for the greater good of society and its citizens. Its leadership's sole goal is to create a freer, fairer, and more humane society – for today and tomorrow. By its 20th anniversary, Concordia is thriving – an indisputable success. It's on the verge of expansion when twin catastrophes strike: the first ever murder and a hack of the town's impenetrable AI. Together, these events compromise the very foundation of the Concordia project – and undermine any possibility of expansion. As the town's investigation unfolds, the story becomes a race against time – to fix the hack, solve the murder, and get the expansion over the line. However, the team soon find themselves staring down a deeply disturbing original sin – a sin that undermines the promise of Concordia far more than any of these threats ever could...

I am SCROOGE

Based on an extraordinary, incredible true story: A department store extortionist fooled an entire nation in late 1980's Germany and became an international media sensation, labelled as the "DuckTales Bandit" by The New Yorker.

Berlin, 1988. How to overcome an existential crisis as a failing artist, forced to spray-paint cars to make ends meet? Arno has the answer! A talented tinkerer, he uses his creativity for his extraordinary new purpose in life: Building bombs in his kitchen and setting them off in high-end department stores during the night as leverage for extortion. But what proves more difficult is evading the authorities. Detectives Çoban and Strack are hot on Arno's heels, who has escaped with half a million. The man is fooling the police under his new alias "Scrooge McDuck", leading to one of the most spectacular extortion cases in German criminal history. But Arno soon learns that money can't buy happiness, despite the promises of capitalism. Now back to square one, he disappears – but Arno will return to ask for more... A real-life case of a man of two minds, who became enemy of the state and folk hero at the same time.

Lucia, a medical doctor, moves with her family to the mountain village of Rotten. Her ten-year-old daughter Alma suffers from severe asthma, and the mountain air is supposed to alleviate her illness. But the new start is bumpy: the lack of snow threatens the winter resort. Her husband Matthi's parents, the biggest local hoteliers, plan to blow up a mountain ridge to build a new gondola station and boost tourism. But when the melting glacier releases a long-buried corpse, Lucia and her headstrong daughter are drawn deeper into mysterious occurrences. Old secrets and new desires come to light. In the 80's, Marianne, an environmental activist who had fought against the destruction of nature, had suddenly vanished. And when Alma disappears, Lucia is forced to accept her task: To save her daughter, she must face the myth of the mountain.

CAMORRA

CODE OF HONOR

25 years after starting a new life, winemaker Matteo feels the consequences of his savage and secret past as a mafioso breathing down his neck. Now it's the Camorra – or his family...

A successful South Tyrolean winemaker, Matteo seems to be living the dream with his beautiful wife Stefania and pretty daughter Laura. But Matteo is guarding a somber secret, and 25 years after starting a new life, the consequences of his murderous past are creeping through the vineyards like an insidious pest. The unexpected appearance of an old acquaintance, Nino, heralds the end of Matteo's perfect front. What he had always feared is now certain: They have found him. The Mob tracked down the traitor! Blackmailed into fraud, Matteo has no choice but to break his silence and reveal to Stefania and Laura his gruesome history. Torn between the love for his family and the loathing for the Camorra, Matteo's inert killer instinct awakens. After he saves the investigating detective's life, he is offered a deal that could provide a way out. And, while the fight for survival enters its next, yet most deadly stage, there remains this one question: Can a man change, after all?

BASED ON A TRUE STORY

DEEP DOWN

EVERY HOUR COUNTS

Based on one of the largest cave rescues in history, spanning 11 days and involving more than 700 people. Directed by Oscar® winner Jochen Alexander Freydank.

After a rockfall, a cave in the Alps becomes a deadly trap for caver Josef, who suffers a traumatic brain injury. Stuck at a depth of over 1,000 meters, twelve kilometers from the entrance, his chances of survival are slim. The local mountain rescue service is slow to evaluate the situation and quickly reaches its limits: There is no emergency doctor who can get down there. So, Josef's closest friends Birgit, who owes him a great deal, and Ralf are calling the international caving community for help. Birgit takes over personal responsibility inside the cave, while Bertram, head of mountain rescue, faces a predicament: He mustn't hand over mission control to the international cavers or allow them to descend into the mountain. At the same time, he would be risking the lives of hundreds of local rescuers with insufficient caving experience if he were to send them into the depths – for the rescue of a man who will most likely not survive...

“A BEWITCHING EXAMPLE IS ELSA MORANTE.
I TRY TO LEARN FROM HER BOOKS,
BUT I FIND THEM UNSURPASSABLE.”

ELENA FERRANTE | NEW YORK TIMES INTERVIEW

Based on Elsa Morante's bestselling novel that is one of the most iconic and critically acclaimed of the 20th century, published in two dozen languages.

Ida Ramundo is the widowed mother of 15-year-old teenager Nino in Rome during WWII. She has a secret: Ida is of Jewish descent. But when she is assaulted by a German army soldier, things turn from bad to worse. In pain, dismay, and ashamed, Ida discovers she is pregnant, and, nine months later, secretly gives birth to another boy, who will be lovingly nicknamed Useppe. The family is further shaken by the events of the war: Nino decides to leave to the front line to fight the Fascists, leaving his mother and little Useppe in an apartment in Rome's San Lorenzo neighborhood to cope with the Nazi occupation and roundups. In the July 1943 bombing, Ida loses everything and is forced to leave. But the moments of deep humanity Ida will experience along the way serve as a guiding light through the struggle for her own survival and that of her child.

HOTEL PORTOFINO

Historical saga about a British family who establish a hotel for upper-class travelers on the magical Italian Riviera during the “Roaring 20s” as they try to escape the traumatic aftermath of World War I. Starring Natascha McElhone and Mark Umbers.

Summer of 1927. Bella Ainsworth is still devoting her energies to the Hotel Portofino, which has overcome its early teething troubles and is starting to prosper. To her relief, her no-good husband, Cecil, hasn't been seen since returning to England a year ago. More regrettably, her son Lucian has also been absent, having set up home in London with his new bride. Now, Bella is looking forward to Lucian's arrival for a vacation. However, Cecil turns back up unannounced: Over the course of three hot summer weeks, she must confront their relationship in the face of her growing friendship with handsome architect Marco, who helps Bella to build a spa in the hotel. Meanwhile, Lucien is fighting his feelings for the maid, Constance, while trying to save his old friend Nish, who is wanted by the Italian police. When Cecil plots to make the hotel part of an alcohol smuggling scheme, Bella must forge alliances. Then, Cecil puts the hotel in jeopardy... and tragedy strikes with fatal consequences.

Miriam, Marcos, and Najwa of the anti-terrorist unit La Unidad travel to Afghanistan with Massoud, an undercover agent, on a mission to cut off the Jihadist flow of weapons into Europe. However, they run into a trap and are kidnapped by a Mujahideen group. Separated by force from his team at the kidnapping, only Marcos can flee, alone and unequipped, into the desert. When Carla hears they are missing in action, she will not stand idly by. Even though she now works in the private sector, she insists with her former bosses at the Secret Service that she is the only one qualified to fly to Afghanistan and get her people out. But the clock is ticking down mercilessly. Spain, like other Western countries, must evacuate its people and local agents in a matter of days. As the Taliban retake Kabul, only hours remain in the near total chaos to locate Miriam, Najwa, Massoud, and Marcos, and free them. And though Carla does all she can and never lets up, not all will make it back in the end.

The SEA BEYOND

Italy's record-breaking phenomenon keeps performing strong among all audiences as unchallenged #1 on Rai, RaiPlay, and Netflix.

In Naples, organized crime stronghold, the inmates at the Juvenile Detention Center are confronted with their own ability to love. Indeed, there will be those who, like Carmine, end up loving their enemy. Those like Filippo, who will be abandoned by the very person who has given up their own family for him – all in the name of love. Those like Cardio, who, in order to do the right thing, alienates Gemma forever. Or even director Paola, who places the duties of a father before those of the heart, while Latifah gives up Beppe for the sake of her daughter. They all will have to make a choice: Do they hold on to the belief that one's own good is also that of the other, or will they be able to recognize that sometimes letting go of those closest to you is the only act of true love possible?

TV has rarely seen a more conflicted, but nonetheless heart-warming, odd couple of investigators!

Maite, the true police inspector, and Tomás, the high-school teacher turned full-time, free-time detective, now live 30 kilometers down the coast in Ferrol, the military base and harbor city where they actually now share a flat. Well, almost. Maite lives one floor up from Tomás, somehow to help him through his progressive illness – if he even lets her. While Tomás eagerly searches the news for cases to jump on, Maite seems more worried about him than the criminals she should be chasing. So, when Captain Palmira Serantes from the Naval Base goes missing, it is Tomás who supplies Maite with the first background research – whether she likes it or not. Indeed, the world of the naval base is so secluded and secretive, Maite can use all the help she can get. But soon Tomás is off on his own investigation – a cold murder case loosely connected to Maite’s own case and about to be closed forever. So the clock is ticking for Tomás – and for Maite, when Captain Serantes’ body is washed ashore.

Based on the bestseller by former anti-Mafia prosecutor Gianrico Carofiglio: An uneasy alliance between a small-time Mafia boss and an upright police sergeant brings down an organized crime ring in early '90s Italy.

Southern Italy, 1992. Police sergeant Pietro Fenoglio can practically smell the Mafia war about to explode in the seaside town of Bari, Apulia. He feels it coming as revenge murders mount with alarming violence during an unusually cool summer. Yet no one else can quite believe that the Mafia have followed cocaine from tough Sicily to sleepy Apulia, least of all the dismissive Bari police chief, who reprimands Pietro for his maverick approach to detective work. As Pietro begins a single-minded pursuit to root out the town's nascent Mafia dons, his marriage to his long-suffering wife falls apart. But when the ruthless Mafia boss Nicola Grimaldi discovers his young son has been kidnapped and murdered, the suspect and Grimaldi's former friend Vito seeks refuge with police. This collaboration with the quicksilver informant unwillingly leads straight-arrow Pietro into a murky underworld, finding that in this case, law enforcers may not differ much from the law breakers...

Following the drastic events at a family celebration that was supposed to bring a breather, the Ristuccias strive for a return to normalcy. But guilt, lies, and the tragic aftermath of the recent escalation still weigh on everyone. Carlo is increasingly caught between the fronts of his family and his passion project in Sardinia... Diego fights like a lion for what's left of his marriage, while Sara savors the sweet smell of her newfound freedom... And Paolo leaves no stone unturned in his quest for custody of his beloved Giovanni. Still, above all hovers the threat of retaliation by the merciless Abbattistas, and the question: Will this family, shaken by fate and shattered by secrets and sins, ever find peace?

HUDSON & REX

ROAD TO
100
EPISODES

The St. John's Major Crimes Unit has a team that is well-rounded and equally well established to deal with kidnappings, homicides, and hostage situations – but what really sets them apart is Detective Hudson's partner and former K-9 dog Rex.

Detective Charlie Hudson has a team he can count on, for the St. John's major crimes unit has all it takes! Always on Charlie's side: former K-9 German Shepherd Rex, who has saved Charlie's life in more than one way. He's the heart of the unit that is aided by Dr. Sarah Truong, the young and attractive Head of Forensics – who might become more than just a colleague to Charlie. Headed by the hard-boiled Superintendent Joe Donovan, who never cracks under pressure, and completed by Jesse, the tech analyst, who's an absolute computer genius, it is Rex, who keeps the team's spirits high in face of St. John's seedy elements they have to hunt down every day. It's not only Charlie's tireless dedication that makes this unit special – Rex's keen, super-human senses, stealth, and agility are often what helps them to wipe out the crime that washes up on St. John's shore. From kidnapping, homicide and hostage situations, to fraud and corruption in high places, Charlie, Rex and their team are a force to be reckoned with.

If the going gets tough for Chief Detectives Inga and Nils, it helps that they are united not only by their love of their profession, but also by their bond of friendship.

“There’s a difference between not being able and not wanting to shoot” – a verdict that pretty much sums up Chief Inspector Inga. The cool northern blond is a woman of action. Her younger colleague Nils is more the calm and collected type. Both divorced loners, they burn for their jobs. Dedication is needed for what they are up against: Suspicion of an honor killing leads to a truth exceeding their worst fears... A traumatized child in mortal danger as key witness in the murder of her parents makes Inga turn to drastic measures.... And when Nils’ ex-girlfriend is killed, it even gets to hard-boiled cops... But one thing is certain: These two are united not only by their love of their job, but also by their friendship.

The emotional baggage from their own troubled pasts can be a real asset for getting into the heads of the suspects when homicide detectives Faber and Bonisch hunt down killers.

For homicide detectives Faber and Bonisch, a new case doesn’t just come with a journey into human abyss, but often a fierce face-off with their own demons. The misanthropic Faber in carries around a lot of emotional baggage. Bonisch’s soul is not without scars either. So, brutal gang killings, fatal family tragedies, or murders in the red-light milieu don’t exactly make things easier. Often, Faber finds himself in a mental hellscape as memories of the events that took away everyone he loved haunt him. But perhaps their pain make Faber and Bonisch so good at their jobs: Getting into the heads of perpetrators, they can anticipate their next moves. And when push comes to shove, both understand that you must have your partner’s back!

Chief detectives Max and Freddy don't seem much alike, but aside from their penchant for deep talk and after-work beers, they are united by their undaunted determination to fight evil.

At first glance, the two chief detectives of the Cologne homicide squad don't have much in common. But when it comes to catching bad guys, the chubby and quick-tempered Freddy and his partner "in crime," the wiry and pensive Max, are a perfect match. Serial killer or copycat?... Jealous lover or greedy businessman?... Murdered in in the heat of the moment or in cold blood?... Max and Freddy are spared nothing in their tireless struggle against crime. Be it trailer trash or uptown scum, they hang tough regardless, for justice knows no class. And, apart from always being each other's ride or die, they share their love for deep talk and after-work beers at the Rhine River – after making sure that Cologne can sleep peacefully again.

With his quirks and grotesque ego, coroner Borne steadily pushes surly Chief Inspector Thiel over the edge. But when it comes to bagging killers, the odd pair are as thick as thieves.

Anytime a murder victim lands on forensic examiner Prof. Borne's table, it's double the trouble for Chief Inspector Thiel. Not only is the adamant DA Klemm breathing down his neck, he must also grapple with Borne's foibles. While grumbly Thiel is a down-to-earth cop, the eccentric coroner can be a real pain: The size of his ego is only surpassed by his talent for getting himself into awkward situations. In his boundless boast and astonishing naivety despite his intellect, he becomes a suspect more than once. And their cases are often odd: corpses falling from the sky, a dead body in knight's armor, poisoners, psychics... but while Thiel and Borne bicker like an old couple, they are also something you could almost call friends.

For years, Cathrin worked as a criminal psychologist, often on cases together with her husband Liam, a police officer. But one day ten years ago, Liam just vanished from the face of the earth. It took all of Cathrin's strength and the support of her son Paul to get back on her feet after her emotional collapse and fall into alcoholism. Working in private practice ever since, she is unexpectedly thrown back into her old life when she finds herself increasingly drawn back into assisting the Galway police. And when old agonies resurface, Cathrin is determined to uncover the truth...

The family feud has gone on for decades. Sebastian cannot forgive his former friend Lorenz for causing his son's accidental death. Nor can Lorenz forgive himself. His daughter Lisa, freshly baked lawyer, is resolved to take the feud to court. Although emotions run high as old wounds are reopened, the men seem ready to reconcile. Yet conflict is still rife between their sons and daughters. An impulsive one-night stand makes Marie question a lifelong hatred, while sparks fly between Lisa and Florian, once childhood sweethearts. Nor are things any less turbulent among their holiday guests, who bring along their own dramas.

A duo of investigators must team up despite their painfully linked past to solve a mysterious murder with a prehistoric flavor. But what connects the two might just solve the case...

It's an odd crime, to say the least: A local figure is found murdered on the banks of River Ardèche near the famous Pont d'Arc. The murder weapon is a carved stone, more than 40 000 years old, corresponding to the prehistoric presence of cavemen in the region. Now, Captain Riad oversees the investigation and must team up with Manon. This is an uncomfortable coupling: A painful past links them. In 1994, when the cave was discovered, Riad's older brother Kamel was accused of having killed Manon's parents. She was just eight years old. Obligated to put aside this heavy past to find the culprit, Manon and Riad establish a link between these two murders 30 years apart. But will Kamel be vindicated?

TRAILER

Empty nest syndrome meets new freedom: When her daughter and best friend Amelie moves out, Maren has to find a new focus in life, coming to surprising solutions!

Police officer Maren and her daughter Amelie truly are a team: Not only mother and daughter, they are best friends! But when Amelie starts studying at university and falls head over heels in love with her fellow student Erik, things suddenly change. Now, Amelie wants to move in with Erik, to the big city. Which is perfectly natural, Maren quite reasonably says to her colleague and best friend Bernhard. But then, she finds herself alone and unhappy without Amelie... Maren's search for herself leads her to a surprisingly obvious solution: Maybe it's about time she starts focusing less on her daughter and more on what she really wants – and maybe she has been looking at it all along!

When orderly Linda gets over the initial shock of her separation, the mother of three is thrown into her new – super-wild – single life!

Is there a life after divorce? To Linda's dismay, she is about to find out! Her three children Tim, Paula and Benni have no room for mommy's grief after her husband hands her the papers. No. They want to find a new partner for her! And Linda's best friend Carmen has only one advice: After the breakup is before the affair! Completely adverse to what Linda is used to, her once orderly life is soon turned upside-down: She wakes up next to a much younger man, finds herself on a date on a lonely river island, crawls through mud and climbs out of windows. Linda's life has gotten off track, but it sure isn't painful – or boring – anymore!

After Chief Inspector Svenja is transferred to the German-Danish border, a body on the beach and a cold case raise the stakes for her and her gambling-prone new colleague Antoine.

When Chief Inspector Svenja needs to look after her father, a vacancy in her hometown precinct at the German-Danish border comes in handy. But there's little time to get used to her new colleague Antoine's casual tone, let alone his soft spot for gambling. Immediately upon Svenja's arrival, a body is found on the Baltic beach. It is the owner of a boatyard. Did he have to die because of a fight over money with his business partner? Then, telling photos are found on the victim's phone point to a motive that goes back to a family tragedy spanning decades and borders. And all the while, Svenja must prove herself in the shadow of her ex-cop father, who can't get over her brother's suicide. For Svenja and Antoine's first case, the stakes are high...

2022's sensation in German cinemas with more than 15,000,000 Euro box office! A light-hearted dramedy about five women (and men) in a constant frenzy of optimization to conform to beauty standards.

Five women in conflict with beauty ideals and gender roles: Sonja feels unattractive after the birth of her second child and tries everything to look the way she did before – not least to please her husband Milan, who is completely unaware of her hardships. Sonja's commitment-shy friend Vicky must contend with her colleague and suitor Franz, who firmly maintains that equal partnerships are possible. Sonja's sister-in-law Julie wants to be a model, but still struggles with the ridiculous standards of the fashion industry. And Leyla is convinced that her life would be much better if she looked like Julie. At 60, Julie's mother Frauke believes she is no longer desired by her husband Wolfi. He, in turn, feels useless as a pensioner...

Amsterdam, the 70's, the true story of a friendship tested by the times and the toxic beauty of the ballet world. Produced by internationally renowned Topkapi Films (CLOSE, ANOTHER ROUND).

In the 70's, the disciplined ballerina Irma becomes best friends with Olga. After both are accepted at the National Ballet, they dedicate themselves intensively to their work. Olga, however, also introduces Irma to Amsterdam's nightlife and teaches her how to have fun. Initially each other's equals at the Ballet, Olga's exceptional talent and larger-than-life presence soon push her ahead of Irma. Keeping up to expectations becomes more and more difficult to Olga and Irma has to watch her friend fall victim to anorexia, alcohol, and drugs. But, strengthened by their friendship, she will be able to give Olga the freedom to live and die in her own way.

Based on the world-wide bestselling novel by Nobel Prize winner Thomas Mann, this amusing and dazzling period piece breathes fresh air into the literary classic.

Paris, at the start of the 20th century. Since childhood, Felix Krull, a charming and handsome young man of simple origins, has had an extraordinary ability to transform and adapt to get ahead. Taking a job as an elevator boy at a luxury hotel, he seizes every opportunity to improve his standing. As Felix rises in ranks among the hotel staff, he captures the attention and affections of the hotel's guests. But, when he becomes entangled in the love affair between the Marquis de Venosta and the free-spirited and seductive Zaza, he sees his greatest opportunity for social advancement yet – even if it means sacrificing love. Eventually leading him to the royal court of Lisbon, Felix will deliver his masterpiece as an impostor!

Based on a #1 international bestseller. From the producers of SPENCER, A FANTASTIC WOMAN, and TONI ERDMANN. Directed by BAFTA-nominated Kilian Riedhof (54 HOURS).

One night in November 2015, when Antoine Leiris was at home looking after his baby son, his wife Hélène was killed, along with 88 other people, at the Bataclan Theatre in Paris. Three days later, Antoine wrote an open letter to his wife's killers on Facebook. He refused to be cowed or to let his baby son's life be defined by their acts. "For as long as he lives, this little boy will insult you with his happiness and freedom," he wrote. Instantly, that short post caught fire and was shared thousands of times around the world. An extraordinary and heartbreaking memoir, YOU WILL NOT HAVE MY HATE is a universal message of hope and resilience in our troubled times.

A film about beauty, joie de vivre, and freedom in the former GDR. Inspired by true events and by the director's own experiences as a model in the late 1980s in the GDR.

East Berlin, early summer 1989, a few months before the fall of the Wall. 18-year-old Suzie is thrown into the vibrant fashion scene of East Germany when a photo of her ends up on the cover of Sibylle, the "Vogue of the East". Together with the glamorous Rudi, she dives into the dazzling subculture working on their very own fantastic fashion designs. When she falls in love with the talented and rebellious photographer Coyote, her life changes. On his "Indian" motorbike, they speed towards the beach and Suzie lives the freedom she had always dreamed of. But while Suzie's star as a supermodel is on the rise, Coyote has other plans and Suzie is asked to betray her friends. Now Suzie must decide: What price is she willing to pay?
